

---

11

Kylie Chung and Jodie Granger: Projections and Representations of the Body

What often unfolds is a communal language about bodily experience and interaction conveyed through a sharing of space, sharing a body, and potentially sharing of consciousness.

ough. Who we? We
nounced so-called ollectivity. What p
urgency-at-work
her ways of spe nnection. The nstitution
odels.
o have n yo performative exercise. In enterprise at play. In struggle.

We popular politics risking ever-Not to be found. A fragile happiness. Our militancy. Our Precariously demonstrating.
Enacting in horizontal-of self-designation. Self-olidarity. Our so-called critical
y. Just what is it to participate and ction with others? Please. We call welcome. All proposals attempted.

...vity. While
...gency-at-w
...ways of s
...ection. The
...stitution. In
...ls. Or per
...ve a co
...u. All
...opia happiness. Our militancy. Our
...ng out. Precariously demonstrat
...earlessly. Enacting in horizontal
...ns of self-designation. Self-
...e. Solidarity. Our so-called critic
...ust what is it to participate a
...with others? Please. We can
...me. All proposals attempted

Our militancy
usly demons
ing in horizo
gnation. Sel
so-called c
to particip
s? Please proposals

Eddie by Kylie

Eddie by Jodie

Jodie by Sally

Sally by Jodie

Kylie by Jodie

Jodie by Kylie

Jodie by Kylie

Kylie by Eddie

risking ever-
A fragile
lity. O
emonst
horizon
n. Self
alled
rti
?

desires, community of equal By any means necessary. A A potentially egalitarian collectivity. What a contested common ground. Calling for what research'? A freedom of assembly. Free associatio precondition of politics itself. A performative exerc actu. Call the police! A joint enterprise at play. In s Enough. Who we? We Them. We popular politics ris denounced so-called populism. Not to be found. A collectivity. What post-utopia happiness. Our militar insurgency-at-work. Drawing out. Precariously democ Other ways of speaking. Fearlessly. Enacting in horiz connection. The articulations of self-designation. Se constitution. In resistance. Solidarity. Our so-called c models. Or perhaps simply. Just what is it to particip to have a common interaction with others? Please. W on you. All proposals are welcome. All proposals atte